? RT Custom tuner 49 $\$$ Last time I have been testing a tank a hot super highway. This time I went on the legendary Tiger with the name of Super Tank. Lets check if this gun is back from the dead. Back to the beginning If you have read my Journey to Tiger Tank the Super Tank from last time I have to touch on this subject. I really do not like to pick the rear of NT in the Storyline because that is my favorite gun therefore I left them alone. Is this gun for all platforms? Test The first thing you notice about this gun is how light it feels in the hand. It is the type of that is seen by many people on the Internet. In your hand this gun feels like a sniper rifle, with strong accuracy and fast shot times. After every shot the barrel lightens and after enough shots your heat adapts to this new setting. I only used this for 30 seconds and already noticed that even just one shot causes the barrel to lighten. There is also the Curve Design at the back of the barrel that can be used to turn the great accuracy into the great fragging. Mentioned above heat adapts to the setting. This is very easy to change. One just has to tap it with a stylus. The mount has no indicator if you are ready for the game or not. Thus the tool idea has to do a first calibration. Just like the other MP's this tank is a one hit kill or one shot kill. They are very prone against AP on the machinegun. There has been no buff yet so this is the same as the old versions. Overall this gun is worth getting thanks to the performance, ease of change and ease of aiming in the gun. In Conclusion Thanks for reading. Thanks for coming back on the Super Tank everybody.
