The introduction of this new type of data in the gameplay gives players and coaches more information and insight to help them become more aware, skillful and disciplined in the way they play the game and coach their teams. The development team spent over two years working on the technology and the feedback from over 20 players playing "The Journey." They prioritized player feedback to ensure it was transferred into the way the game plays. "We constantly evaluated player feedback and tried to find ways to incorporate it into the gameplay. We did this by introducing new features and mechanics like 'knock-on' for close controls and dynamic shot construction for dribbling."said Jake Graf, Head of Creative Development, EA SPORTS FIFA. A special thanks to John Charles of CharlesDuff, a well-known NFL player, who is the first person to wear a FIFA 22 motion capture suit. With John's assistance and help, FIFA was the first video game to capture a real player's movements. We are excited to share the information on the creation of "HyperMotion Technology," a major development in the game's cutting-edge Artificial Intelligence, as well as a brand new player development system, player creation, fitness performance and create-a-player profiles. FIFA 22 introduces "HyperMotion Technology," which uses motion capture data collected from 22 real-life players playing a complete, high-intensity football match in motion capture suits. The data collected from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power FIFA 22 gameplay.The introduction of this new type of data in the gameplay gives players and coaches more information and insight to help them become more aware, skillful and disciplined in the way they play the game and coach their teams.The development team spent over two years working on the technology and the feedback from over 20 players playing "The Journey." What's new:

- Introducing Enhanced Player Conditioning - Now player's health and stamina influence their ability to perform basic tricks, reactive dribbling, and ease of control. Players can also now push each other off the ball to get free-kicks, convincingly steal the ball from other players and score thanks to important contact with a defender.
- Introducing Defensive Tackles - Defending in FIFA 22 requires quicker decision-making and new defensive skills, like quickly sliding in, using off-the-ball defending tactics, and closing down quickly on the opponent.
- Human Intelligence - Now reward players' creativity by rewarding them for improvisations in tight situations. For example, midfielders will be rewarded for dribbling with just one of their feet over the ball for a team high up the field. Midfielders also receive an accuracy boost in their work on the ball.
- FUT Player Contracts - FUT Soccer players can now renegotiate their contract at any time. FUT contract negotiations are now done as negotiations between player and owner instead of between player and FUT. Thus, FUT contract negotiations now leverage FUT's financial system, which allows FIFA Game developers, Arena teams and FUT owners to tweak FUT, after all contracts have been signed. Contracts can now be set to be renewed again, as they are in real life (i.e. one year).
- Persistent Player Outfits - Each player has their own custom persistent player outfit which stays with the player over game sessions and transfers. A player will only be able to wear every item once regardless of how they get to that item.
- Persistent Player Passes and Shots - Every player that has their own pass and shot icon will now display their unique personal passes when under pressure by team mates and the opposing team, and all of a player's special passes will be put into one single menu. Team mates can still pick the pass of a player that is most appropriate at any given time.

- Enhanced Experience with Momentum - Experience activates faster as you get forward, thanks to the FIFA Game's Gravity-based Momentum Engine. Momentum drives players' touches, balls, headers, and speed forward, helping to increase players' pace and the rate of experience activation. Experience in FIFA 22 will now be affected by a ball's velocity and movement.
