Program Name: PenProtect Cracked Accounts Version: 2.0.1 Architecture: Windows Vista x64 Total Downloads: 2 License: Free to try Developer: Phoenix Technologies Email: support@phoenixtech.com PenProtect Review at a Glance: If you do a lot of business on your flash drive, then there is a good chance you will lose it or have it stolen at some point. This tool was made to help you to protect your sensitive data on the flash drive. PenProtect is an intuitive application designed to password-protect USB flash drives, in order to prevent unauthorized users from accessing your sensitive data. This tool is very useful in case your flash drive gets lost or stolen. In order to use PenProtect, you must save the executable file to the USB flash drive in question. Its interface is made from a regular window with a well-organized interface. So, all you have to do is type in a password and confirm it, in order to encrypt the pen drive. From this point on, all files on the drive in question are locked. Decrypting them is done in a similar manner, in just a few easy steps. In addition, you can select the encryption method between total and partial, as well as password-protect only particular areas of the flash drive, instead of all files. The straightforward program runs on a very low amount of CPU and system memory, has a good response time and performs an encryption or decryption job swiftly. There's also a help file available. No error dialogs have been shown throughout our evaluation; the app did not hang, crash or pop up error dialogs. Although PenProtect has not been updated for a long time, it delivers a quick solution concerning flash drive encryption. For example, you can protect your encrypted file with this password. In this way, only you can access it. If you lose your flash drive, then you have a backup. There is nothing to worry about. PenProtect can protect you and your private data and prevent unauthorized users from stealing your data. The Windows Vista compatible application is free to download and has a one-time registration to use. PenProtect Features: PenProtect allows you to protect all data on the pen drive. The application features four different password options. The application lets you protect the files and folders with your four selected passwords at once. So, you can protect the files in question with four different passwords.

Preventing a USB flash drive from being stolen or being misused is a very easy task, as there are plenty of tools available. In this category, you can find a tool like USB Logger, which will help you prevent your USB flash drive from being misused and controlled from another computer. USB Logger is a free application, which is capable of logging all commands performed on your USB flash drive. This data is then shown in a text file, the name of which is automatically updated every time it is accessed. The application is very easy to use and very simple to configure. Just plug the USB flash drive in question in your USB port, and then open USB Logger. You can then select the drive and file to which the USB Logger should be applied. That's it! In addition, the log file is saved to a temp folder, allowing you to easily modify it and customize it. USB Logger will notify you when the USB flash drive is accessed, saving you from a surprise and unwanted access. It's not really a permanent solution, as it will be deleted whenever the log file has been viewed. The application is mainly designed for security, but also proves handy in case you forget to put your flash drive in a safe place. It's fairly simple, and its only downside is that it's not possible to view the log file directly on the PC's desktop. In spite of this, USB Logger does a good job and works as expected. The interface of this tool is very simple and intuitive, and it provides a basic yet useful feature. The application does not fail to perform its job, and does not require a lot of resources, but it's worth mentioning that it is not very powerful. However, its price is great, as it costs only $2. USB Logger Description: USB Logger is a neat tool designed to provide a secure way to access your USB flash drive. Although it has been designed for security purposes, it can also be used to secretly transfer files from your PC to your USB flash drive, by using the USB port. It is a simple and intuitive tool, which will easily allow you to carry out this task. Just plug your USB flash drive in a USB port, and then select USB Logger in the window. Next, select the drive and file to which you want to send the content. The program will then notify you whenever this drive is accessed. With that said, your drive can be accessed from any
