
Shape3d V8 _HOT_ CrackedI

it's been a bit rough going the last few days with the swell out of the north west and the wind direction. so i decided to get stuck into ripping some more. the last session of the year has always been nice and the swell is getting bigger. so i thought i would have a go at ripping some boards so far i have been out there twice and have a few boards ripped. one being the shape3d that i posted about a week or so ago. it's been pretty good! i haven't had any issues with it. i was on it the other day in the 7ft swell and it was super fun. just got a bit of a hollow feel at the tail and a little bit of a wall at the end. the next session i was on it in the 12ft swell it was super fun. got a lot of speed and the rail was pretty big for it. it just sort of exploded out of the water and floated on the backline. that's all i can tell you about it. i have been working on the backline for the past few days and will update when i get it in to the water. cheers rgnacca you told me you have made some tweaks on file but what is the file did you use would be instructive to compare the file and these pictures shown up here once come through the cnc. anyhow if it's aku's file i will open it under shape3d. moodboard - now with better contests! the contest was great! i had no idea it was going to be so successful! unfortunately i was not around to have a go in the contest which was a shame, but that's life. however i was able to check in the shape3d v8 cracked file out of shape3d v8 cracked file. and it was a great go! in conclusion, this contest was an excellent opportunity to implement my ideas for the contest, and in my opinion it was an absolute success. well done everyone!
