KeyMACRO is an application which allows you to assign macros to different keys. For example you can assign the Command key as a shortcut for the commonly used options on the windows main menu. You can also use KeyMACRO to quickly execute common operations and control specific programs. . MACROS MACROs (short for Merekez) are sequences of keystrokes which are either permanent (permanently assigned) or temporary (temporarily assigned). All macros have a time limit. KeyMACRO allows you to change this time limit from the Macros menu, and to set the macro to remember the last key that was pressed. . TRAINING KeyMACRO contains an 'import' function which allows you to save commonly used macros (in the form of a script) in KeyMACRO's training mode. You can import macros, or start new training macros. You can set the training macros to remember the last key that was pressed. . INSTALLATION You can start KeyMACRO from the command line with the following command: 'keymacro -cmd "%1"'. KeyMACRO can be started without any arguments (to start the import/training function) or with one or more options. . INSTALLATION OPTIONS Set the location of the keyboard trainer file. . SETUP Set the time limit for each macro. Use the "MACROS" menu to set the time limit for all temporary macros. Set the macro's to remember the last key that was pressed. Show current and total macros' time limits. . KEYMAP KeyMACRO allows you to switch on/off the control of specific keys, to move or copy the selected key to another location on the keyboard, and to put the key under the cursor into 'copy' mode. You can switch on/off keys, move a key, and copy and paste a key. If you hold down a key when moving it with the cursor, it will be locked in that position until you move on. . COMMAND PROMPT KeyMACRO allows you to set the key that is used to display a command prompt. . SCRIPT KeyMACRO can be used as a scripting language for programs such as Visual 2edc1e01e8

I have java version set to: /usr/lib/jvm/java-8-oracle/jre/bin/java But I get the following error: java.lang.NoClassDefFoundError: javax/servlet/http/HttpServletRequest I have also tried putting this in a config file but this didn't help. I don't know how to set my java version to make it compatible with Jenkins. A: You can either update your version of Java or add a JAVA_HOME variable and set it to the location of your jdk. See this page for more info. Q: PHP Regex - Accepting a fixed length string of 1s and 0s What's the best way to build a regular expression that accepts a string of 1s and 0s with a fixed length. I've tried preg_match("/^[01]$/",$string) but it doesn't work. A: ^(?:1(?:1(?:0)?)?|0)$ You could try it here. You could also try this if you want the same regex for strings with numbers up to 99: ^(?:1(?:1(?:0{$n})?)?|0)$ NEW DELHI: The Supreme Court has upheld the acquittal of six persons who were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for rioting at the Mumbai Riots Case hearing, but did so in a curious statement that did not order a new trial in the case. In its 6-3 order, a bench led by CJI Ranjan Gogoi rejected a representation filed by the Maharashtra government saying that the Bombay High Court acquitted the accused and acquitted the trial court for violations of fundamental rights of the accused during the trial. READ ALSO: SC backs acquittal of riot accused in Mumbai fake encounter case However, the bench said that the acquittal did not represent the judgment of the High Court and, hence, the case would be transferred back to the court which had acquitted the accused in the first instance.
