
Windows 10 Version 2004 Insider Preview 19041.84 For WSUS __HOT__

This is the cumulative update that Microsoft announced will be available to Windows Insiders for 19H2. Its even more important to check for updates now before its available to all users. There are two security updates for those of you who were using the Anniversary update. The security updates are for Internet Explorer, the Microsoft Scripting Engine, Windows App Platform and Frameworks, Microsoft Graphics Component, Windows Input and Composition, Windows Media, Windows Shell, Microsoft Xbox, Microsoft Edge, Windows Fundamentals, Windows Cryptography, Windows Authentication, Windows Kernel, Windows Network Security and Containers, Windows Active Directory, Windows Server, and the Microsoft JET Database Engine. For details, see the Release Notes for May 2020 Security Updates. There is also some good news in the post. The Microsoft Scripting engine, which has been deprecated for over a year, is deprecated for good. For those of you who like to get more information, you can read a summary of it in its removal in the history section here. Another change in 19H2 is that Microsoft will deprecate Windows Store apps for Windows Phone. This means no more Windows Store apps for Windows Phone. Microsoft has already removed the Windows Store from the Settings app, so Windows Phone users dont need to worry about it. The apps that were removed from Windows Phone cant be downloaded from the Microsoft Store, and nobody has any idea what will happen to them. We also wonder if this will affect Lumia phones with the Windows for phone emulators.

Today we are releasing 18H1 build 19041.84 via Windows Update to Windows Insiders! This is our first anniversary update for Windows 10 and is also our first major anniversary update, as this marks the second year that Windows 10 has been available for Windows Insiders.

Microsoft Edge is launching a lot of new features on April 2nd! The first Anniversary Update for Windows 10 will get us in to features like Cortana improvements, Microsoft Edge improvements, Microsoft Rewards, more, and more. Get 19H1 Build 19041.84 for Windows 10 now via Windows Update! Today we are making available an important update for Windows

Insiders on the Windows
10 November 2019
Update (19H1) build channel. We've identified a bug in this build that can block certain file types from syncing in OneDrive. When the files are added to a folder that contains blocked files, the sync is blocked for all affected OneDrive users.
Update to the build also fixes a problem where privacy controls weren't working properly in the mobile UWP apps, and another that increased resource usage when computers were on battery and plugged in. It's also worth mentioning that this build fixes a bug in the Windows Defender app where it crashed if it tried to detect a virus without being connected to the internet. The DirectAccess and IT Essentials editions of Windows 8.1 are updated, and the Beam update for Xbox One is also updated.

We only have the four figures for this build, and only the table showing the fixes. Windows Insiders can download it directly from the app and get the update from Windows Update.

Windows Insiders dont see changes yet, but its always important to check for updates. Its a stable build, with only minor fixes. We have not yet seen the update appear, but once its released we will post a link. We want to say thanks to Microsoft for giving us a preview build. We hope you have a great week. See you tomorrow! 5ec8ef588b
