The last decade has seen a massive resurgence of movement and activity around sexual and reproductive health. Sexual and reproductive health (SRH) was declared a priority issue for the United Nations Millennium Development Goals, and four years later there has been much progress in the implementation of these goals. Despite this, rates of STIs are higher than they have ever been b7e8fdf5c8

The Long Way Home The Long Way Home is the debut studio album by Canadian electronic music duo Broken Social Scene, released in 2000. Origins The Long Way Home was recorded over a four-year period and was originally named The Delta Album. Each song on the record was named by Lisa Molinaro, the then-wife of Broken Social Scene member Kevin Drew. The title was chosen because Drew had been in Dublin and had watched Sunset, a film about a father and his son who travels to Japan for the world cup. He liked the title and it became the album's title. The album was recorded in a basement studio, dubbed "The Rehearsal Dinner", where the band would rehearse and write new songs. Writing and recording Much of The Long Way Home was recorded in a Montreal basement studio, with the exception of the song "Long Time Dead", which was recorded in Halifax. In 2016, Lisa Molinaro told the Boston Globe that she wrote the song "The Plan" in anticipation of the disappearance of her husband, Kevin Drew. Release The Long Way Home was released on CD and LP by Arts & Crafts. It was released in a limited run of 400 numbered copies and is now out of print.
