All of our movies are in.avi and can be converted to other formats .In the spring of 2002, a small group of artists, musicians, and teachers decided to kick things up a notch. In 2006 we launched music education project Auspicious Strain. An immense collection of video and audio footage documents the birth and growth of our genre-bending musical collective, live performances, and our music education program. Take a listen. In 2017 we returned to the making of music and the making of sound for five weeks in the Northwoods of Wisconsin. In August 2017, the recordings were released. In the summer of 2018, we are expanding the range of our work and exploring new and exciting possibilities with local high school students who are invited into our community of artists and educators. in 2019 we will record a digital exhibit on the history and function of the Fluxus art movement.Clinical Ethics - 15th Edition Description Clinical Ethics will help clinical professionals understand and apply ethical principles to their everyday work. Students will gain a broad conceptual framework of clinical ethics and learn how to evaluate a variety of clinical situations from the perspective of applied ethics. This edition includes a new chapter on the Teaching of Ethical Principles, a new section of the chapter on Ethics in Palliative Care, an in-depth and relevant new chapter on Safeguarding Children, new material on ethical decision-making in clinical care and a new section on Ethics and the Communication of Uncertainty. In addition, two new features of the book are two appendices which include a sample ethical questionnaire for medical students and a sample ethical questionnaire for nursing students and personnel. About the Authors Richard Maier has been a Consultant and Associate Professor in the Department of Palliative Medicine at Oxford University Hospitals since 2004. A graduate of both Oxford and Cambridge universities, he has worked as an IT consultant, a monk, a pharmaceutical technologist, and a general practitioner.
